Innovative border-crossing jazz ■ ■ ■

“The level of interplay... is remarkable” - Earshot Jazz (Seattle, WA)

Tunnel Six is comprised of some of the most notable up and coming jazz musicians from the U.S. Pacific Northwest and Eastern Canada. This unique collective was formed when its members were attending the esteemed International Workshop in Jazz and Creative Music at the Banff Center in Alberta, Canada. Though a chance meeting formed this band, the strong musical chemistry between these musicians was immediately evident, and the desire to keep making music continues to persist. The strong and intuitive storytelling elements of their music and improvisations connect intimately with a broad range of audiences, and the group’s fan base has grown rapidly since the completion of an extensive international tour in the spring of 2010. Tunnel Six will be releasing their debut album on Origin Records in the Spring of 2011.

Chad McCullough, trumpet (Seattle) Ben Dietschi, saxophones (Toronto) Andrew Oliver, piano (Portland)
Brian Seligman, guitar (Toronto) Ronald Hynes, bass (Halifax) Tyson Stubelek, drums (New York City)
